Alani's first car ride! She was so good and pretty much just slept the whole time.

Alani's first day home after we picked her up!

She rocked her 1st day in the classroom at Seaside Elementary School in Torrance.

Alani's First Dance competition! She handled all of the loud music, and was very calm and relaxed. Competitions are usually long and hard but she powered through and was the best girl!

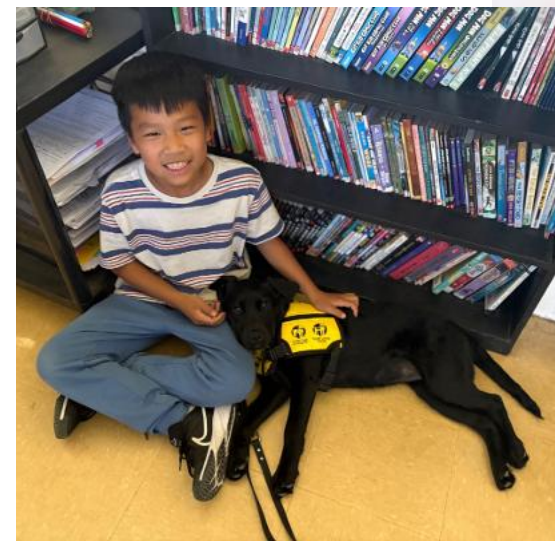

School assemblies have become some of her favorite things.

We were visited by Flagman Safety

Measuring Alani's growth next to an Alani can. This is also where we got the inspiration for her name! Alani was recognized by a nice lady who's an influencer for Alani Energy drinks.

Class time cuddles are the best!

Alani and her best friend Pepper practicing the "down" stay. They are only a few days apart and play like siblings!

This was Alani's first skills class at Wilson Park. Her & Lobo rode in the wagon because they didn't have all of their shots yet. They were able to stay calm with all the distractions at skills class!

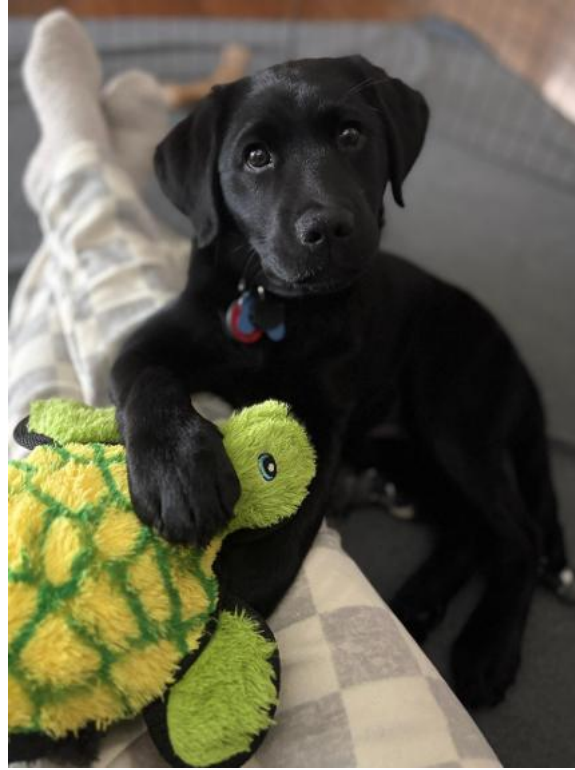

Alani has been working very hard on "settle"

She loves laying down outside in the sun with her toys!

Being so well behaved at GDA meeting. She does so good with dog distractions and is so focused.

She loves all the cuddles and loves belly rubs from our area leaders!

Alani did great at a
GDA Torrance Area
Group outing to Del
Amo Mall

Alani is such a fun playful girl! She gets along so well with other dogs and kids. She likes to take out all of her toys and lay with them.

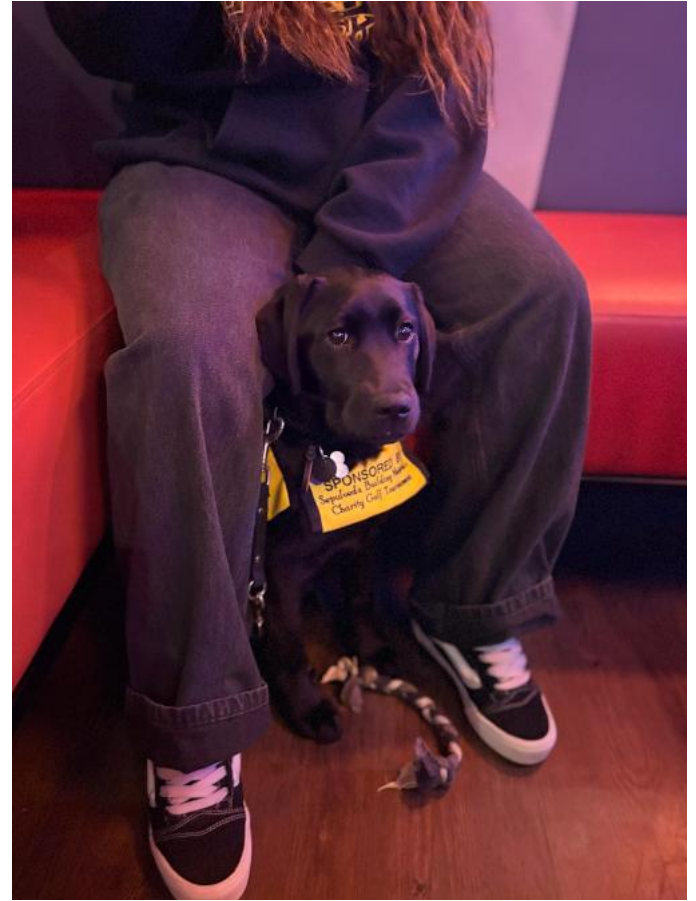

Alani has been working very hard at school and we might have another future puppy raiser!

Alani at the school library listening to someone read to the kids!

Torrance Area Group outing was at the bowling alley. She did so good with all of the loud noises! She practiced "get close" and other commands.

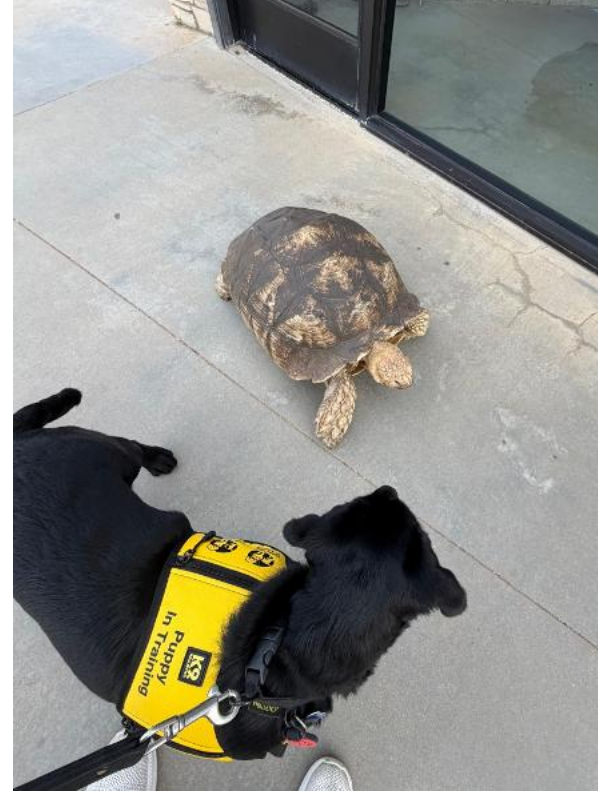

Alani's first visit to the theatre!
We went to watch Grease at West High School. She curled up under the seat and was snoring the whole time. She handled all the greetings and attention she received very well.

Road trip = a little R&R
She took a little swim to cool off. This was her first time in the pool.

She has made so many new friends, and she loves to cuddle. She also made a new turtle friend! Alani was very curious.

Books, Blankets, and Buddies event at Seaside Elementary School.

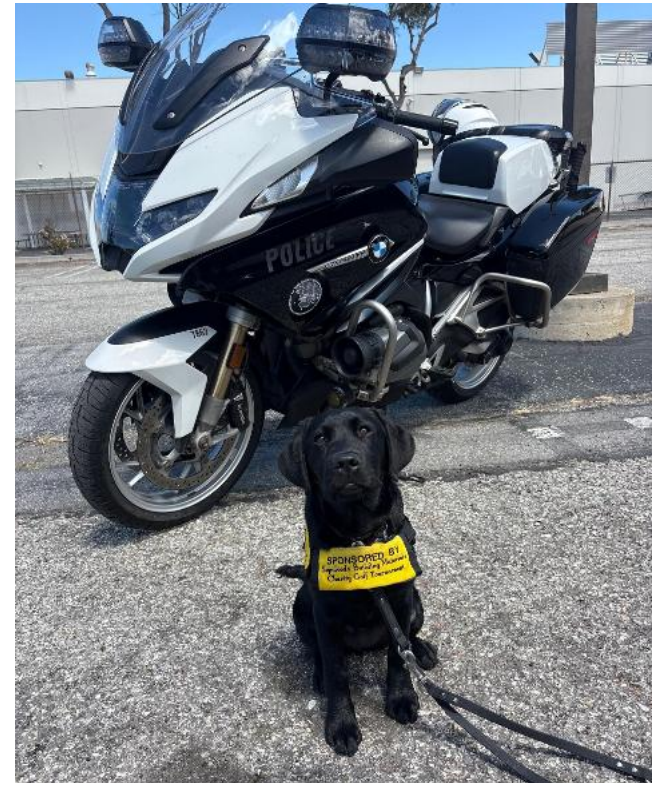

Laying down with her favorite girls while they read to her.

Touch-A-Truck: special event for Military kids. She was so patient with all the children.

Even with all the distractions at the event, Alani was locked in and ready for her next cue.

Alani looking so cute next to the police motorcycle! She was able to experience many different vehicles.

Alani loves to snuggle up in small spaces
