

Hi family! I wanted to give you a quick update to let you know what I am learning here at GDA! Just after the last note I sent, we went to this cool place and rode on the metro! I learned to keep my instructor safe by keeping him away from this edge and he gives me so much love when I do that. I have to say I am pretty amazing at this whole riding the metro thing.

My instructor also told me that my obedience and heeling has gotten so much better. Sometimes I get a bit distracted when my friends are around because I just love them so much I want to play, but I am learning that when my instructor asks me to do something I have to listen. When I do what he says, he gives me so much love and attention!

Working is great and all but you know what I also love to do here at GDA? I love to run around with all my other friends and play with toys and eat peanut butter bones!! Sometimes, when there is free time, I get to run around our community area with my friends and my instructor throws us toys! Miss you guys but I am having a great time here and I want to keep learning.

Wags & kisses

Venus
